

Meet Ellen Sullivan, Director, JWBC

October is National Women's Small Business Month, a perfect time to launch "Enterprising Women", a newly developed newsletter of the JWBC designed to tell the stories of entrepreneurial leadership in Northeast Florida.

As the new Director, I am thrilled at the opportunity to lead the JWBC into a new era of expansion to become a world class women's business center. With an updated mission to "expand upon the entrepreneurial and economic development of women business owners and leaders in Northeast Florida", the JWBC has a unique value proposition in the seven county area it serves.

In the lifecycle of almost every business, a new level of innovation becomes necessary. The JWBC is no exception and it was time to pivot. For the past 120 days, an infusion of a new spirit of entrepreneurship has been underway. Using the customer journey model, operating processes are being updated. Curriculum has been redesigned, operations are being modernized and communications are under expansion. The goal for each client, volunteer, mentor, facilitator, sponsor and partner is to have a great experience and obtain value with each encounter. We are in the process of creating new offerings to impact business development and growth.

Whether you are considering starting a business, a new or seasoned business owner, corporate executive or an emerging leader in our community, your experience and journey is important. Please join us by signing up for a program, referring a colleague or friend, becoming a mentor or be an ambassador for the JWBC in the community.

Thank you for being a part of the JWBC Community. I look forward to hearing from you!

Respectfully,
Ellen Sullivan
